ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An electric mail composing method includes the steps of accepting an electric mail text composed or edited by the user, accepting a receiver's terminal model name selected by the user, reading a display form defined based on the receiver's terminal model name from an attribute table, and displaying the electric mail text on a display portion based on the display form read from the attribute table.

5